COMMENT FORM QUESTION 1

We have held three pre-application public community meetings to introduce our team, share our development objectives, and provide more information about our plan. Our engagement approach was formulated to gather community feedback early on in the process, which was used in the creation of our development plan. We anticipate submitting a formal application to the City of Toronto in the coming months. After an application is submitted, the City Planning and Councillor Campbell will host additional community meetings to gather your input.

What do you think has worked well as part of our pre-application engagement process?

What can be improved upon?
